Some Notable Passenger Lists on the Internet

A. Locating Passenger Arrival Records

(from Ancestry.com)

1. Estimate the Arrival Date

- * Check census, death, obituary, sibling records with +/- 1, 2, 5, or 10 years.

2. Gather Identifiers

- * Be able to distinguish your ancestor from others with similar names. Know age, time of immigration, occupation, possible traveling companions.

3. Learn Ethnic Names

- * Check for given names in the native language.
- * For surnames, look for information online and in print publications that can provide you the ins and outs of surnames in the land of your ancestors.

4. Check Multiple Ports

- * Although New York is most popular, consider Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New Orleans. Many traveled through other U.S. Ports, including Canada.

5. Don't Stop Looking

- * Your ancestor may have made more than one trip before settling in.

B. Fast Facts

(from familytreemagazine.com)

- Records Begin: earliest extant customs passenger lists on National Archives microfilm dates from 1820.
- Records end: latest ships' passenger lists on National Archives microfilm dates from 1957.
- Key details in early lists: ship name, ship's master port of embarkation, date and port of arrival, and each passenger's name, sex, age, occupation, and nationality.
- Key details in later lists: ship name, ship's master, port of embarkation, date and port of arrival, and each passenger's name, sex, age, occupation, nationality, last residence, birthplace, appearance, final destination in the U.S. , U.S. relative's name and address, and closet living relative in the native country.
- Microfilm availability: NARA Administration and Family History Library; large genealogy libraries may have films for select ports.
- Online availability: EllisIsland.org, CastleGarden.org, Ancestry.com, FamilySearch.org, and others.
- Search terms: passenger lists, customs lists, immigration records, emigration records
- How to find in the familysearch catalog: www.familysearch.org/catalog-search Run a place search for the arrival port, then select Emigration and Immigration.
- Alternate and substitute records: emigration records, passport applications, naturalization records, published indexes.

Homeward Bound

More than 95 percent of Americans descend from individuals who did not live on this continent in the 18th century. While immigration has occurred steadily since the first settlers ventured to the new world, most arrivals can be categorized into three major waves:

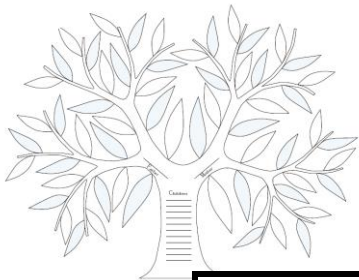

FIRST WAVE: Settlers in the 1600s were fleeing religious persecution and/or seeking new opportunities in a comparatively richer land. Most immigrants from this wave were German, English, Welsh or Dutch.

SECOND WAVE: Crop failure, political turmoil and poor living conditions brought on by the industrial revolution all motivated people to leave their homelands for America in the 1800s. Additional migration motivation came from people seeking religious freedom. While immigrants arrived from around the world, the greatest numbers came from places including Scandinavia, Ireland, Scotland, England, Turkey, Armenia and China.

THIRD WAVE: Political turmoil and, ultimately, wars in Europe in the early to mid 1900s brought more immigrants to the U.S. Other immigrants sought relief from religious persecution or were seeking political asylum. Well-represented ethnicities in this immigration wave include German, Russian and Polish Jews, and Italians, Greeks and Austro-Hungarians.

Tip: Immigrants often settled near other immigrants from their home county – sometimes even the same hometown. You can contact people researching your ancestor's neighbors from the Member Connect panel on records at Ancestry.com.

KEY DATES	WHAT YOU'LL FIND
Colonial period thru 1819	Passenger lists weren't required but some ship captains retained lists of all aboard ship. Search the Passenger and Immigration List Index to see if a record of your ancestor's arrival exists. Records in this collection date back to the 1500s.
1820 - 1893	Passenger lists first required to be kept; however, details on these lists are somewhat limited. To successfully identify an ancestor in a less-detailed list, look for the full family unit. Compare names, location information, dates and any other available details to facts you've discovered in later U.S. records about the family to determine if the person could really be your ancestor.
1893 - 1906	Sixteen new fields added to passenger lists, including marital status, last residence, final destination, literacy, financial status and others. Use each of these to help you determine if you're looking at the correct person.
1906 - ON	Manifests required to include a physical description of the passenger and place of birth; shortly thereafter, name and address of the closest living relative in the country of origin was added, too. Use the latter to help you locate the family in the homeland.

Sample Ship Passenger Arrival page, S.S. Carpathia arrived at the Port of New York, April 18, 1912.

Part 1: Introduction

Immigration records, more popularly known as "ship passenger arrival records," may provide evidence of a person's arrival in the United States, as well as foreign birthplace. The National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) has immigration records for various ports for the years 1800-1959.

Part 2: 1538-1819

What We Have:

Until January 1, 1820, the U.S. Federal Government did not require captains or masters of vessels to present a passenger list to U.S. officials. Thus, as a general rule, NARA does not have passenger lists of vessels arriving before January 1, 1820. There are, however, two exceptions to this general rule:

AMERICA'S FIRST IMMIGRATION CENTER

CastleGarden.org is an educational project of The Battery Conservancy. This free site offers access to an extraordinary database of information on 11 million immigrants from 1820 through 1892, the year Ellis Island opened. More than 100 million Americans can trace their ancestors to this early immigration period.

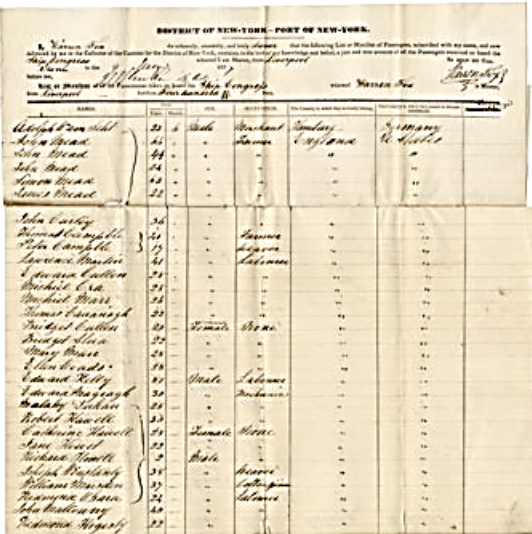

Castle Garden, today known as Castle Clinton National Monument, is the major landmark within The Battery, the 25 acre waterfront park at the tip of Manhattan. From 1855 to 1890, the Castle was America's first official immigration center, a pioneering collaboration of New York State and New York City.

CastleGarden.org is an invaluable resource for educators, scholars, students, family historians, and the interested public.

The Battery remains one of the oldest public open spaces in continuous use in New York City. Native Americans fished from its banks, and the first Dutch settlers built a low, stone wall with cannons, a battery, to protect the harbor and the fledgling city of New Amsterdam. The transformations of The Battery and the Castle tell the history of New York and, by association, the growth and development of our nation.

This website is a free service provided by The Battery Conservancy, a non-profit organization. Please consider supporting us today.

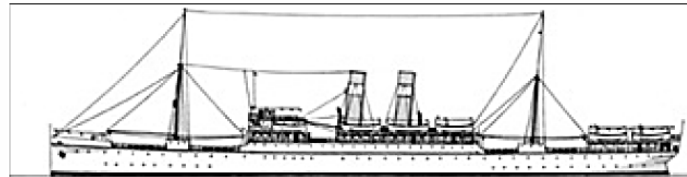

D. An Immigration Example

10. Peter¹ Ristic (Chris^A)..... 002
 1901/Jul/10 Birth (Chris Riste/Sevda —), under Turkish rule. GREECE, Agia Paraskavie {Ri-01, Ri-111, Ri-114}

His birth place is stated differently in some public records. He claimed Paraskavie was his birth place, and his wife's Petition for Citizenship supports this place. However, the passenger list for the ship, Themistocles, gives his birth place as Leskoviki, Albania, which is close to the Greek border.

1918 Marriage(1) to Dousta —. {Ri-111}
 1921/Jan/28 Left for his travel to the United States, via Athens and the port at Piraeus, on the ship, Themistocles. {Ri-111, Ri-112, Ri-116}

The ship, Themistocles in 1921

The passenger manifest provides some interesting information. Peter Ristic's name was listed as Marko Riste, age 17, single, and he was going to Philadelphia to join his brother Andrea Riste (Andrew Ristic). Peter spoke and read Greek and was considered of Greek culture. However, he was listed as a resident of Albania and his last residence was in Leskoviki, Albania where his mother, Sevio, remained. Leskoviki is also listed as his place of birth. {Ri-116}

The ship, Themistocles left Piraeus on January 28, 1928 and sailed to Palermo on Sicily. It left Palermo on February 1, 1922 for its trip to New York. On board the ship were 27 first cabin passengers, 117 in second cabin, and 479 in steerage. It is very probable that Peter was in steerage. Of the 623 total passengers, 610 were aliens. {Ri-116}

1921/Feb/20 Arrived in New York City. NY, New York, Ellis Island {Ri-112, Ri-116}

Peter stated that his ship was in quarantine in New York Harbor for two months. After he finally cleared immigration he took the train from New York City to Philadelphia to stay with his brother Andrew Ristic. He took the name Ristic from his brother who had taken the name earlier. They made and sold candy and gum.*

1921/Sep/20 Moved to Detroit, Michigan where he worked at a hot dog stand near the Studebaker plant at Michigan and Lafayette Avenues. MI, Wayne, Detroit {Ri-112}

Peter worked at a restaurant and eventually bought one near the Ford Motor Company at Vernon Avenue and Dearborn Avenue in Highland Park for $2,500. He sold the restaurant four months later for $7,000 when Mr. Bennett told him they were going to build a viaduct through his property.*

1925/Jul/21 Filed his Declaration of Intention. MI, Wayne, Detroit {Ri-111}

On his Declaration, he was described as five feet eight inches tall, 150 pounds, with brown eyes and black hair. It also stated that his first wife resided in Florina, Macedonia, Greece. {Ri-111}
