1. If using a client-based e-mail program (e.g. Windows Mail), click this hyperlink:
scsccnews+subscribe@groups.io.
2. Your PC's or Mac's e-mail client program will open with a pre-addressed blank email message.
3. If using a web-based e-mail system (e.g. gmail) , copy the following hyperlink to the TO: field of a new, empty e-mail message: scsccnews+subscribe@groups.io
4. Either way, all you need to do is to SEND this blank message.

You will receive back a confirmation message from Groups.IO asking you to verify that you want to join this group.

In the future, if you change your email address, please notify the Membership Chair, so that the Club's database can be updated.

Once you subscribe to SCSCCNews, you will automatically receive email messages as they are posted to the group's mailing list. If you don't check your email very often you might find a large number of messages in your inbox when you DO launch your email program.

How to Subscribe to the Club's SCSCCHelp Support Forum

We encourage all of our members to join the club's SCSCCHelp@groups.io support forum. You don't have to have a vast knowledge of computers to be a member of this group. Our mission is to help each other with computer problems. As a subscriber ~~you don't have~~ to be an active participant. If you have a solution to someone's call for help, that's great. However, you can choose to remain in the background and eavesdrop - that's called lurking. You'd be surprised how much information you can gather by just lurking.

After reading the following instructions, if you are still unsure as how to sign up, contact list administrator Tom Burt (tomburt89134@cox.net) and he will help you through the process.

If you are not yet a member and would like to join, do the following:

1. Copy the following hyperlink to the TO: field of a new, empty e-mail message: scscchelp+subscribe@groups.io
2. SEND this blank message.

This message is then sent to Groups.IO which in turn sends an email to you asking that you reply to confirm that you indeed wanted to join the group. Upon receiving your confirmation, your request to join is then sent to the SCSCCHelp Administrator. The Administrator then checks the email address you have submitted via your message to ensure that you are a current member of the Computer Club. Upon verification, the request is approved. You will receive a final confirmation email message.

Be sure to send your subscribe request from the same email address that you indicated on your application to join the Club. In the future, if you change your email address, please notify the club's Membership Chair, so that the Club's database can be updated.

Once you become a subscriber, you will automatically receive email messages as they are posted to the group. If you don't check your email very often you might find a large number of messages in your inbox when you do launch your email program. You can determine how you receive messages using the following procedure.

Your login ID to the Groups.IO website is your subscriber email address. Your password is unset by default. When you first try to login, Groups.IO will send you an email with a link to use to log in. Once logged in you can edit your preferences and profile settings, including setting a password. You will find an Account link in the dropdown with your name or email at the upper right of the page. Click that link to go to a page with various settings, including Login. When you have finished making your edits click the Save button at the bottom of the page.

To post a message to the group, send an email (from the email you're subscribed under) to: scscchelp@groups.io. It will be routed to all current subscribers to the group.

Current week's schedule with Zoom session links highlighted. If you have Zoom installed on your computer it will automatically load and take you to the meeting.

Donating or Recycling Your Old Computer Equipment

The information below is provided for our Members' convenience and should not be considered an endorsement or recommendation of any of the services.

SCSCC Hardware SIG

The SCSCC Hardware SIG accepts donations of working computer equipment in good condition and not obsolete. Some donated equipment is disassembled for spare parts that can be used at the Tuesday Hardware Repair Lab sessions. Other equipment is made available to members and residents in need and to worthy charities.

If your proposed donation does not meet the above criteria, please take it to one of the locations below.

Chuck Hagen

Blind Center of Nevada

The Blind Center of Nevada provides recycling services for electronic equipment. You can drop off equipment Monday thru Friday 8AM to 2PM

Check out their web site below for details.

Note - they now charge a $10 fee for accepting old CRT monitors.

Recycle Your Old Gear at Goodwill

Electronics are popular Christmas gifts. After all, who wouldn't want a new computer or television? But there's a problem with getting new gear. You need to dispose of the old stuff. You can't just put electronics in the trash. They contain compounds that are bad for the environment. Besides, tossing them may be illegal in some areas. So, make sure the old gear is handled correctly. Your best bet is to donate it to a charity. Or, you can take it to be recycled.
